Torrent Prevents Recovery Of Bodies From Train

CASPER, Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Several hours after the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy train Number 40, enroute to Denver from Casper, dropped through a bridge over Cole Creek, ordinarily a dry course, but suddenly changed into a raging torrent by excessive rains, and two bodies of the estimated thirty or more victims have been recovered. Main and snow forced rescue parties to abandon efforts to remove any of the bodies from the five coaches which still are submerged in a churning current 75 feet wide. It is feared that some of the bodies have been washed down stream by the rapidly moving water.

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—The military dictatorship of Dr. Gessler for the time being seems to have put fear into the hearts of extremists, both right and left, and as far as Germany outside of Bavaria is concerned, his powers are expected to keep the situation righted for the present. Oklahoma's Military Court Of Inquiry

This is Governor Walton's martial law agency of investigation into activities of the Ku Klux Klan in the state. During its four weeks of existence the court has examined more than 500 witnesses and taken some 6,000 pages of testimony.

Ward Is Exonerated Of Charge Of Murder Of Strength At The Polls

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—The state supreme court at noon today denied an application of Governor J. C. Walton for a rehearing of his appeal from a decision of the secretary of state that would have prevented a vote Tuesday on an initiative bill to permit the state legislature to convene itself to investigate the conduct of state officials. This removes the last obstacle to the submission of the question and it will be voted on unless some new action to prevent it is instituted before Tuesday.

It was pointed out that the action of the court does not order the question submitted. It merely eliminates all legal barriers. It is still possible for an injunction action to be brought barring the question, the way for such action having been left open when the court earlier in the day denied an application for a writ of mandamus to compel the election board to put the question on the ballot.

A scene almost without parallel was enacted in the court room when the verdict was announced. The throng of spectators rose to its feet, pushed (Continued on Page Three)

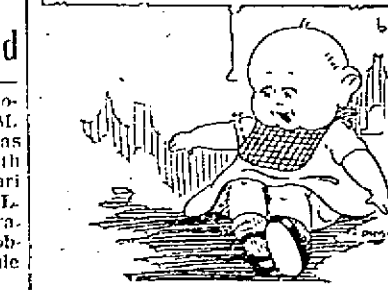

TULSA, OKLA., Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Six persons missing from Tulsa county following their appearance before Governor J. C. Walton's military commission to relate their experience at the hands of masked bandits are being sought by scout detachments in four counties today. Captain E. A. Wallis, personal aide to Adjutant General B. H. Markham, announced at military headquarters.

Captain Wallis arrived this morning from Oklahoma City. Searching squads are in Wagoner, Oklahoma, Creek and Tulsa counties, he said. Three men and three women regarded as important witnesses in scheduled court actions growing out of informations filed by the military have disappeared from their homes since appearing before the martial board of inquiry, Captain Wallis declared.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—The fate of the proposed initiative bill which would permit the lower house of the state legislature to convene without call from the governor, rests with the Oklahoma supreme court, with possibility of the proposed measure going to the ballot for a special election on October 2, depending upon action by the court's decision hinges. A test of strength at the polls of the administration of Governor J. C. Walton, who has placed the entire state under martial law and fledgling the Ku Klux Klan.

18 Lives Are Taken In Iowa And Nebraska

OMAHA, NEB., Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Eighteen known dead, three missing, more than a dozen seriously injured and property damage estimated at more than half a million dollars, was the toll of a tornado and blizzard which visited Western Iowa and Eastern Nebraska last night.

At Council Bluffs, Iowa, where a tornado struck shortly after nine p. m., five persons are known to be dead, three missing and five seriously injured, and property damage is estimated at more than $250,000.

Eight mourners were drowned at Louisville Nebraska, when the house where the body of Mrs. Mary McCraver lay, was washed into Mill Creek, which had become a raging torrent after a cloud burst.

Dr. A. A. Ward, a physician of Marquette, Nebraska, on his way to make a professional call, was killed, when blinded by rain and hail his car skidded and turned over.

The three persons reported missing at Council Bluffs, are believed to have been washed into Indian Creek, which is out of its bounds from heavy rains the past few days.

Mrs. Lars Kelsler and her three children were killed at Council Bluffs, as they ran from their home, a large tree crushing them. Their bodies were found huddled together.

In Council Bluffs twelve houses in a row were leveled by the tornado and the Strand, one of the leading theatres, was almost demolished, when the rear end caved into Indian Creek. No one was injured when the building gave way. Five followed the tornado and several homes and warehouses were destroyed.

Persons living near Salt Creek, in the western part of Lincoln, Nebraska, were forced to flee to higher ground when that creek, which at this time of the year is usually dry, left its banks. Prisoners at the state penitentiary were used to build dunes around the prison power plant.

In Omaha, the rainfall approximated that of a cloud burst. Several trains out of Omaha for Kansas City and Chicago were held here because railroad officials feared that many of the bridges might give way.

Chicago, Burlington and Quincy passenger train Number 22, left Council Bluffs at its usual time, but was forced back at South Omaha, when it was found that the tracks were covered with water.

Water early today was running from three to six feet deep in the business section of Council Bluffs and buildings were conged with a foot of mud. All traffic between Omaha and Council Bluffs has been suspended and the gas company in the latter place is unable to supply gas because the engine room of its plant was flooded.

The eighteenth death reported was that of Otto J. Duhek, of York, Nebraska, who was drowned while trying to cross a flooded creek there.

At Council Bluffs, Iowa, the death list stood at five, and while rumors were circulated that more had lost their lives in the tornado that swept the southeastern part of the city, they apparently were unfounded.

The heaviest toll was taken at Louisville, Nebraska, where a cloud burst swept away three houses, in one of which eleven persons perished. All these were trapped in the home of Robert McCarver.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Secretary of State "Bud" H. Brown, announced today that the Taft referendum will be placed on the ballot without further ado, the supreme court having decided that the law is subject to referendum.

Brown Orders Taft Bill Placed On The Ballot

In view of the fact that "fewer than six weeks remain before the election, the referendum will go on the ballot, even though petitions have not been verified. "The period during which verification would have been accomplished" elapsed, therefore, the court decided the case in point, and proponents of the referendum aver that this prevents any steps looking to the determination of the sufficiency of the petitions.

The secretary of state also announced today that the Franklin common pleas court had dissolved the temporary injunction restraining him from sending out the petitions to the county boards of elections. "As he will not return the petitions to the counties for verification, the necessity of further proceedings under the injunction suit brought by Walter Stewart, of Toledo, in the local common pleas court is obviated. The injunction was dissolved on the secretary of state's own motion.

A motion will be filed Monday, Brown indicated, asking that the injunction restraining him from receiving the Albaugh referendum petitions, which are now in the hands of the boards of elections and must be returned to him after they have been verified, be dissolved in order to place the Albaugh referendum on the ballot.

The secretary of state today wired Representative Taft at Cincinnati and Representative Albaugh at Cleveland to send, in immediately the arguments in support of their respective laws, to be used in the publicity pamphlets that are to be sent to the voters. All other arguments are in.

Boy Scouts Hunt For Infant Taken By Mistake

DETROIT, MICH., Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Hundreds of Boy Scouts took up the search today for the body of the baby of William Greutx, which police believe has been secreted by Alphonse Vlemminck who was given the infant by mistake at the Evangelical Deaconess Hospital when he called for the child born to his daughter, Yvonne "Eva" Vlemminck. The boys under the direction of police officers, are searching all week, swamp land and unoccupied ground, not only in the vicinity of the Vlemminck home, but between the house and the hospital.

In spite of the fact that Vlemminck, under arrest, still sticks to his story that the baby was given to a stranger from Pennsylvania" police assert it is their belief that the child is dead. Lieutenant Detective John P. Smith, in charge of the search for the child, said it has been impossible for his men to make a careful examination of all the unoccupied ground around the Vlemminck residence, but with the aid of the Boy Scouts he expected today to search the ground thoroughly.

While the search is being conducted here, for the body of the baby, police are also attempting to find William C. Turner, Erie, Pa., to determine whether he may be the "stranger from Pennsylvania" who Vlemminck said took the baby. Information obtained by investigators late yesterday, showed that Turner had worked with Vlemminck as a carpenter, and had left supposedly for Erie, the day the baby was taken from the hospital.

Persons living near Salt Creek, in the western part of Lincoln, Nebraska, were forced to flee to higher ground when that creek, which at this time of the year is usually dry, left its banks. Prisoners at the state penitentiary were used to build dunes around the prison power plant.

Donahey Again Moves To Oust George T. Poor

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Quo warrant proceedings to oust George T. Poor, Cincinnati, as a member of the State Public Utilities Commission, were filed today in the supreme court by Attorney General Crabbe.

The action was taken, Mr. Crabbe pointed out, at the request of Governor Donahey. Alleged ownership of stock in the Cities Service Company by Mr. Poor was cited in the suit as making the latter legally unfit to serve on the commission.

This is the ground on which Donahey has attempted to remove Poor. The latter refused to resign on the governor's request, with the result that the chief executive asked the attorney general to start legal proceedings to oust him.

It was indicated by friends of Commissioner Poor that his defense will be that the transaction involving the purchase of stock on which the ouster suit is based, was never consummated and that he does not own the stock of the Cities Service Company.

The transaction in point was in the hands of the Brazell and Chatfield brokerage concern, which went into the hands of a receiver before the stock transfer was effected. It is shown.

No Money Press Strike Aid To Be Given The Farmers

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—With New York's eleven day strike of newspaper pressmen ended, the strikers are expected to return to their jobs Monday.

The decision to discontinue the strike was reached at a meeting last night of the local union, whose charter has been revoked by the International Union. The strikers accepted the agreement concerning wages and working conditions made last Friday by members of the New York Publishers' Association and officials of the International Union.

For one thing, the government is satisfied that it has done all that it can so far as the way of extending credits. More money has been lent by the War Finance Corporation to the wheat-growing states than has been given in proportion to other parts of the country. New facilities of credit have been opened upon by new legislation at the last session of Congress. What then remains? The farmers would like the government to handle the crop for export somewhat as it did during the war. The claim is made that the government made $50,000,000 through its wheat operations in connection with the war and that this sum might be used as a revolving fund. (Continued on Page Three)

The committee of bankers from the wheat-growing states comprising the Ninth Federal Reserve District are in conference today with the directors of the War Finance Corporation. They had their talk with President Coolidge on Thursday. They did not argue for any specific proposal, but urged in general that the government do something to improve the position of the wheat-growing farmers.

Train Victim In Serious Condition

George Hunter, 14, who suffered the loss of his left leg at the hip under the wheels of a C. & O. freight yesterday afternoon and the loss of his right foot by amputation at the ankle, and sustained serious internal injuries about the lungs, remains in a critical condition at Hempstead hospital. The lad is comatose and recognizes his father and brother, who are at his bedside. Shock, loss of blood and the internal injuries make his condition extremely dangerous.

Unidentified Body Found Near South Portsmouth

A body of a man so badly decomposed that identification is almost impossible was found on the Cynthia Thompson farm back of Beattyville, below South Portsmouth about ten o'clock this morning, by Clarence Cooper and James Williams, young men well known in the South Portsmouth community.

Two gold teeth are thought to be the only means of identification. About $300 was also found on the body and also a revolver containing three empty chambers and three loaded shells. At first it was thought to be the body of Millard Lewis, young man of below Beattyville who is wanted in Greenup county in connection with a fatal shooting on the C. & O. ferry boat several months ago, when Letcher Philpot was killed. The parents of Lewis claim that their son did not have any gold teeth. It was also reported that it might be the body of John Lewis, a brother of Millard Lewis. The parents claim that John Lewis has been in Pittsburgh and that he wrote home just a week ago saying that he would be home this week but he had not arrived up to Saturday noon. The fact that the body appeared to have been dead a long time, eliminates the belief that it might be that of John Lewis.

Judge T. E. Nichols, at Greenup, was notified and he ordered Spittle Higgins, of near Pullerton, to go to the scene and hold an inquest. A report of the finding of the body spread rapidly and many Pullerton and Beattyville residents hurried to the scene in the hope of identifying the body.

Two Applications

Two applications were favorably noted upon at the weekly session of Portsmouth Camp, Modern Woodmen of America last night. Degree work will be conferred next week. In 1922 there were 30,799 conferrals for drunkenness in London, 6,410 of these being against women.

New Teachers And Truant Officer Named By Board

Appointment of new teachers and a truant officer was the main work before the Portsmouth Board of Education last night when the teachers' payroll was also allowed, amounting to $32,226.18.

Robert Nutter, a P. H.-S. graduate, who has been working at the N. & W. terminals, was engaged as public school truant officer at a salary of $140 per month. Dana V. Meyers has been engaged as teacher of manual training in the grade schools at a salary of $150 per month. Lowell Selby, formerly of Scottdale, Va., was engaged for this position, but was later placed in the high school in the same line of work.

Miss Mabel Hagemeyer was appointed teacher in charge of domestic science in the high school at a salary of $200 per month. Several teachers have been working temporarily in this position since school opened. The teacher first engaged resigned just before school started. Miss Mary B. Whitley was engaged as a teacher for the second and third grades at the Eleventh street school at a salary of $120 per month. Another teacher was needed in the colored school on account of a large increase in first grade enrollment.

Miss Helen Dawson will be school nurse this year, by virtue of action of the Board last night, succeeding Miss Myrtle Kepler, who held the position for several years. Salary is $125 a month. A petition was received from residents of the Star Yard district, praying the Board to provide transportation for their children to the Scottdale school. The matter was referred to Supr. Apple for investigation.

Knights of Columbus are planning to stage a minstrel show November 7 and 8, and the board last night rented the High School auditorium to the order. Arrangements were also entered into whereby use of the auditorium is granted to Holy Redeemer school for October 13, 17 and 18. It is planned to conduct a benefit entertainment for the school on the dates named.

Petition For Receivership For Chicago Elevated Roads

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Petition for receivership for the Chicago Elevated Railroads was filed today in circuit court on behalf of two members of the preferred stockholders protective committee. The petition charges that Samuel Insull, head of a number of Chicago public utility corporations, conspired with others to obtain control of the elevated lines. The petition is directed at the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, trustees; Mr. Insull, Henry A. Blair, president of the surface lines; F. A. Vanderlip, of New York, and others.

Attorneys for the petitioners plan to go before Circuit Judge Hugo M. Friend Monday and ask a temporary injunction restraining the sale of certain stock certificates scheduled to be sold in New York October 3. When Insull and Attorney Wm. G. Heall, since dead, were trustees of the elevated lines some years ago, the receivership petition charges that bills for power held by this Commonwealth Edison Company, an Insull utility, were allowed to accumulate in order that the elevated lines might become obligated to the electric company.

These claims, the petition asserts, are to be turned in under the proposed reorganization, their holdings would become worthless. Besides the receivership the petition asks an accounting from the trustees for the last several circulars.

Hale Guilty Of Assault; Gilliam Is Exonerated

"Guilty" of assault and battery was the verdict of the jury in the case of Delbert Hale, New Boston young man, brought before Judge Thomas in Common Pleas Court Friday on a charge of assault with intent to kill and maim and disfigure C. M. Copas, local real estate agent, on August 15 last, while Hale's companion, Jeff Gilliam, also named in the joint indictment, was freed, when the court sustained a motion offered by Attorney Theodore K. Funk at the close of the testimony to dismiss Gilliam on the ground that the state had failed to show that he had had hand in the trouble. It required less than 30 minutes for the jury to reach a verdict, which was turned into court shortly after 4 o'clock through Foreman George Jenkins, and Judge Thomas promptly called the defendant before the bar and sentenced him to 30 days in jail, besides assessing a fine of $100 and costs.

The assault, which occurred in a soft-drink establishment at Fourteenth and Findlay street on the evening of August 15, was admitted by Hale, who claimed that he acted in self-defense, declaring that Copas attempted to grab a bottle to strike him with when they became involved in a dispute over money matters.

Copas contended that he was attacked from the rear and severely injured on the head with some heavy instrument without being given a chance to defend himself. He sustained several scalp wounds and declared the assault was without cause or justification.

Judge A. Z. Blair assisted Prosecutor A. Nealm Skelton in pressing the charge.

Bids opened Saturday afternoon by the Service Department for the improvement of 15 streets on which bids were recently rejected showed a slight reduction.

City Engineer Holmes stated after the bids had been read that they may be several days before they can be tabulated and the exact figures learned. However it was indicated that the bids on the streets to be paved with brick were reduced from $2.65 and $3.65 per square yard to $3.39 and $3.54 per square yard. The reduction was caused by a change in specifications according to City Engineer Holmes.

Local firms bidding on brick were the S. Monroe & Sons company, The Harper and Rucl company and Kelley Bros. It was stated that the estimate of Engineer Holmes had been increased on an average of from 50 to 55 cents per square yard over his previous estimate. Engineer Holmes stated at the meeting of the Board of Control when the bids were rejected that his estimate was low. The first bids submitted exceeded his estimates on the 15 streets by $4,600.

The Andrews Asphalt company of Hamilton bid on most of the streets and their bid was from 45 to 55 cents per square yard cheaper than their first one. This time their bid was on an average of $3.10 square yard, but this will not be definitely determined until all of the firm's figures are computed.

On excavation sewers, manholes and edging the Andrews Asphalt company seemed to be bidding on an average with the brick contractors, which indicated that the asphalt bids would be low on most of the streets.

The fifteen streets on which bids were opened were Fourth street, west of Market; Jackson street, Homestead addition; Fourth street, 632 feet west; Grandview avenue, 23rd to 27th; Grant street, Coles Boulevard to 25th; Shawnee Road, 25th to 27th; 25th street, Grandview to Shawnee Road; 27th street from Grandview to Shawnee Road; Third street from Brown 700 feet west; Briggs avenue, Waller to Seloto Trail; 23rd street, Waller to Seloto Trail; Jackson street through Rose Ridge addition; Ashland, at 27th to Coles Boulevard; Baird avenue, north of 62nd and east of Baird; Summit street from 20th to 21st.

Another House Robbed

Another home was visited by a thief last night, the scene of his operations this time being the C. D. Bradshaw home, Baird avenue and Kinney's Lane, the same dwelling that was entered several months ago.

The way drawers were pulled out and bed-clothing pulled back, police believe it was the same person who visited the house before and was possibly the work of the man who visited the A. Pusateri home on Waller street, Sunnyside, Thursday night.

The Bradshaw family is on a farm on the West Side, near Lucasville, and until they came back, idea can be obtained of the loot purloined in last night's visit.

Entrance or exit was made via a back porch and an upstairs window. There are muddy footprints on the porch posts, in roof and window sill. The cellar door was open and it is thought the thief left the house in this way. The thief visited every room and completely ransacked the house, upstairs and down.

Mrs. C. E. Severinghaus, who lives next door, heard a noise as if someone was walking on a tin roof while she was in the kitchen of her home last night. Members of her family walked around the Bradshaw home, but did not see any suspicious persons about. They also watched the house during the evening and did not see any light. This morning Mrs. Severinghaus noticed a rear upstairs window raised and notified the police.

Friends of Mr. Bradshaw were endeavoring to get word to him this afternoon. The house is for sale and of late a number of persons have been looking at the place, and the thief might have been mistaken by neighbors as a prospective buyer.

"Guilty" of assault and battery was the verdict of the jury in the case of Delbert Hale, New Boston young man, brought before Judge Thomas in Common Pleas Court Friday on a charge of assault with intent to kill and maim and disfigure C. M. Copas, local real estate agent, on August 15 last, while Hale's companion, Jeff Gilliam, also named in the joint indictment, was freed, when the court sustained a motion offered by Attorney Theodore K. Funk at the close of the testimony to dismiss Gilliam on the ground that the state had failed to show that he had had hand in the trouble. It required less than 30 minutes for the jury to reach a verdict, which was turned into court shortly after 4 o'clock through Foreman George Jenkins, and Judge Thomas promptly called the defendant before the bar and sentenced him to 30 days in jail, besides assessing a fine of $100 and costs.

The assault, which occurred in a soft-drink establishment at Fourteenth and Findlay street on the evening of August 15, was admitted by Hale, who claimed that he acted in self-defense, declaring that Copas attempted to grab a bottle to strike him with when they became involved in a dispute over money matters.

Copas contended that he was attacked from the rear and severely injured on the head with some heavy instrument without being given a chance to defend himself. He sustained several scalp wounds and declared the assault was without cause or justification.

Judge A. Z. Blair assisted Prosecutor A. Nealm Skelton in pressing the charge.

ABE MARTIN On What the Auto is Doing

Our IDEAL OF A FUTILE CASE

We do not deny that the automobile is a great invention and a great blessing. It might be properly said, "we might in all enthusiasm say the same thing about almost anything." But how is the automobile being used? We don't believe no inventor of contrivance in all history, not even the shotgun, or pistol, or golf stick, or the automatic plunger, or the distillate coil, or the bathin' suit, or even the roller skate, has done so much toward the general demoralization of a nation as the automobile. The automobile is used to negotiate ever sort of devilry under the sun, except probably poison pen letter writing. Nine-tenths of our crimes and calamities are made possible by the automobile. It has unleashed all the pent up criminal tendencies of the ages. It's the central figure in murders, holdups, burglaries, accidents, dope-dealing, suicides, and assassinations. It's the realization of the prohibition amendment, and it has well nigh ruined the American home. No crime story is complete without a shot or two, or they come out in a high-powered motor car, no robbery has the true ring unless the bandits jumped in a waiting car and made good their escape. No girl is missing that wasn't last seen stopping in a strange automobile. It didn't used to be so damned easy to rob a bank, or murder somebody, or get away in a buggy, or on a hand car. In the old days criminals occasionally grabbed a passin' freight train, and sometimes they hid in swamps or thickets for weeks. Now they just take a car and cover their tracks till they could climb in a railroad car and start for Mexico, but they nearly always get caught. But today most any kind of a criminal is a couple of hundred miles off the good before a sheriff can find his hat, and a daughter kinelope and be married and settled in Erie, Pennsylvania, before her parents miss her. Every day marks some new and disastrous automobile escapade, some awful automobile calamity, or some sensational escape in an automobile. An ever minute in the day somebody is stealin' an automobile. An' they haven't a day rolls by that somebody hasn't sellin' the sewin' machine, or the home, or somethin' on account of an automobile. An' it's too bad that any thing as grand as comfortable and useful as the automobile must be constantly mixed up in shady transactions of ever sort, for it must be admitted that it's the leading figure in all the mischief that's goin' on. Maybe the folks at workhouses are empty, but it's not because the world is gettin' better. It's because all the criminals escape in automobiles.

Does Portsmouth Boast A Baby Peggy?

Has Portsmouth a "double" for Baby Peggy of the movies? The Eastland theater would like to find her—or a number of Baby Peggys—and it will offer numerous prize awards to several Portsmouth girls who most closely resemble this famous child star of the silver screen. Now, proud parents, here's your chance! Read this: Baby Peggy, as most theater-goers know, is the cutest and most lovable child in the movies. She is not quite four years old, but she is a full-fledged star, drawing a salary running into four figures a week. Audiences have raved over her in some of the biggest pictures of recent months, and so now she has been brought out in a whole series of delightful comedies, written especially to display her amazing charms. One of the comedies, called "Baking Orders," will be shown at The Eastland Theatre commencing Oct. 1st. Little Peggy is so clever, cunning and lovable in this picture that the entire country has gone into raptures over her. Out in Los Angeles, where she was discovered by the movie people, the whole town extols its chest and has to wear a larger hat when it talks about her. Los Angeles loudly proclaims that Baby Peggy has all other children in the country backed off the boards. Now, The Eastland admits that Baby Peggy is a wonder, but it doesn't think she "got that way" just from living in Los Angeles. It thinks that Los Angeles was just lucky in happening to find such a child. The Eastland thinks there are just as cute, lovable and possibly as clever children in Portsmouth and vicinity. To prove its contention, it wants to find them, hence, the Eastland "Baby Peggy" Contest. All Portsmouth children who look like her are eligible to enter this contest up to the age of seven years. It doesn't make any difference what their names are; they don't have to be named Peggy. All that is necessary is that they look like Peggy, bright and exceedingly lovable. Of course, mothers, the more your little girl is dressed like Peggy dresses in the pictures, the better chance she stands of being chosen. At 5 o'clock Tuesday, October 2, all the "Baby Peggys" of Portsmouth are requested to come to The Eastland Theatre. There will be a big reception for the youngsters and their mothers. Bring your youngsters made up in Baby Peggy costumes if possible, but bring them anyway. Undoubtedly there will be a big crowd and lots of fun. A committee of prominent citizens will select from the contestants the ones they think most closely resemble Baby Peggy.

Does Your Baby Look Like "BABY PEGGY"?

The Eastland will distribute the prizes: First prize $1500; second prize $1000; third prize $500; fourth prize the Baby Peggy Doll, donated by Louis Amberg and Sons. The attached coupon, properly filled out, will admit one little Baby Peggy and her mother to The Eastland Theatre on Tuesday, October 2, at 8 p. m.

No Money Squabble Over Taxation Bill Not Yet Settled

But the question asked in Washington is whether the farmers want the government to go into the export business and take a loss, for if the world price of wheat is down the government would be unable to sell its wheat at any higher prices than could the farmers themselves. America is no longer in the position of dictating to foreign countries what the price of wheat shall be as other products of the world have come into production. The United States is at the mercy of a world-wide situation. Canada, for instance, with a crop of 300,000,000 bushels of wheat to export, is compelled to take the same price for her product as America with her approximate surplus of 75,000,000 to 100,000,000 bushels.

Officials point out that the price of wheat today is higher than it was a year ago to-day and that prices are bound to rise still further.

Europe is buying from hand to mouth and currencies abroad are fluctuating. The unstable political and economic conditions of the settlement of the war in the Ruhr is confidently counted on here to improve the situation through the natural benefit that will accrue to the purchasing power of all Europe unless of course revolutionary develops in Germany and Germany secedes from the German republic to France.

No special session of Congress is in the offing because the administration hasn't yet anything to propose that can be cured by legislation. Secretary Wallace, of the Department of Agriculture, Secretary Hoover, General Meyer of the War Finance Corporation, and all the men in the government who know anything about the farm situation are striving hard to find some solution that will help the farmer. The political power of the farm bloc is appreciated. The administration wants to appear as sympathetic and helpful as possible. If the farmers want to restrict wheat to the American market they must get rid of the surplus somehow or else get a protected price. There is little doubt that Western Senators and members of the House will come back here with proposals to have the government finance the wheat crop, but on the face of things to-day the proposal will not get administration backing. The hope here is that conditions will have shown untold improvement with Congress returning and that the natural laws of economics will cure the difficulty.

In this connection, however, it developed to-day that the controversy over the referendum is not as yet entirely settled. John E. McClellan, president of the Realtors' Association indicated tonight that in his opinion the time is past for scrutinizing the referendum petitions for possible irregularities and beneficiaries since the 40-day period for such scrutiny came to an end yesterday. It is his contention, therefore, that the question must go on the ballot, even though the petitions have not been verified and checked.

In this Secretary of State Brown is expected to take an opposing view, in view of the fact that he was restrained from checking the petitions or from submitting them to the county boards of elections for determination of their sufficiency because of the right of prohibition obtained by McClellan in August and which was made permanent by the decision of the Supreme Court today.

Secretary of State Brown is not in the city to-day, and his views on the subject could not be obtained. Close advisers, however, are of the opinion that it will still devolve upon him to send out the petitions to the county boards.

Cincinnati Disappointed.
CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 28.—(By the A. P.)—Mayor George D. Covel, when informed that the Supreme Court of Ohio decided today that the Taft taxation bill was subject to a referendum, said: "That means that we shall have to depend upon the people of Ohio to vote in favor of the tax bill. Unless the people uphold the Taft bill it will be almost impossible for the city of Cincinnati as well as other cities of Ohio to function properly."

Ward Back In New York
NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—When informed that his son, Walter S. Ward, had been acquitted of the charge of murdering Clarence M. Peters, George S. Ward, the wealthy Brooklyn baker, came into New York state for the first time in months. It was learned today.

Mr. Ward, Sr., had not been within the jurisdiction of a New York court since a re-investigation of the murder charges was begun several months ago, as it was well known that the state desired to subpoena him. He was awaiting the jury's verdict in Newark, N. J., and when it was communicated to him he crossed the Hudson and attended a reunion of the family held last night at the Manhattan residence of another son, Ralph D. Ward.

Ward was indicted. The first indictment was dismissed, then Governor Smith called a special grand jury which again returned an indictment. In all these proceedings the black-mail secret never was barred. It was not even hushed at the trial, for the GENEVA, Sept. 28.—(By the A. by a call signed by a majority of its members, specifying that such an assembly could not pass legislation, could devote only to an investigation to state officials. While the referendum has no connection with court action instituted by a majority of the house to test their right to convene without a call from the governor, it is predicted that these proceedings would be withdrawn if the proposal were voted upon and passed.

The matter was brought before the supreme court by application for a writ of mandamus to compel the state election board to enter the referendum on the ballot.

Campbell Russell, an ardent political enemy of Governor Walton, who circulated the initiative petition, instituted the action to forestall the executive's attempt to keep the measure off the ballot. The governor has applied for a rehearing of his appeal from the secretary of state's ruling that the petition is valid, charging that a number of signatures are false forgeries. His appeal was denied.

having asked their people to go to

New Pastor At Bigelow Tomorrow

Bible Study Course

Sunday evening, Sept. 30th, will complete the Harb Bible Study Course being held in the Public Library auditorium. Topic: Restoration. How can earth's resources feed all the present living and the multitude dead? Will the earth produce sufficiently to feed this multitude?
The Scriptures answer: "The wilderness and the solitary place shall be glad for them; and the desert shall rejoice, and blossom as the rose. They will produce abundantly, and joy shall be in man's days."
The reign of Christ will result in the destruction of all man's enemies. The weed, the thistle, the thorn, the pest that destroy crops, shall all be destroyed. Everything that produces sickness shall be destroyed. The Apostle plainly says: "He (Christ) must reign, till he hath put all enemies under his feet. The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death."—1 Corinthians 15:25-26.
Do you now see that God has a plan to give life to, and feed, all so, you should acquire a knowledge of that plan. Follow this course with a course of studies in the Scriptures. This is life eternal. (John 17:3.)

ciation.

First Evangelical Rally And Reopening

Seven Hundred! Is there any reason why a church with a membership seven hundred and thirty-five members ought not to have that num-fort as some have our building will not hold the crowds of waiting and working the church auditorium is again ready for occupancy. All the wood-work has been re-painted and the freeping has been finished. We are proud of the new appearance which must be seen to be enjoyed.

British Labor Is Restive, Problem Of Ruhr Involves

LONDON, Sept. 29. (By the A. P.)—Labor is becoming increasingly restive in the face of the prolonga-tion of the Ruhr problem and the specter of unemployment.
With a view to getting to get it demands met, labor is doing its utmost to force the government to convene parliament, which has adjournaled until November 17. A joint meeting of the Trade Union Council and the Labor Party executives yesterday passed a resolution urging calling upon Prime Minister Baldwin to summon parliament immediately.
Such a step was asked because of "the extreme gravity of the situation in Germany with its inevitable effect on the state of trade, and in view of unemployment, which is heavily increasing by the hour, and the need to assist the heavily burdened boards of guardians."
Concurrently, the unemployed workers' committee is organizing agitation to enforce the summoning of parliament. Leaflets are being distributed urging workers to demand "work or full maintenance of trade union rates."

Now overheard came to the church

Harrd, Englewood Court, by a bomb and on September 25 the home of H.
W. Hollinger, in Upton avenue, was wrecked.

TO ATTEND

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—I have my hair bobbed and am undecided about letting it grow out. Some say my hair will keep growing down further on my neck from having it clipped. Is this so? I never have my neck shaved. Will there be many red hats worn this winter?

Having your hair bobbed and neck clipped won't make the hair grow down on the neck any farther than it ever did. Red hats will be worn this fall and winter by those who like them.

Dear Dolly—I am 11 years of age and not allowed to talk to the boys, but a boy friend sent me a box of candy and my mother made me give it back to him. She said if I wanted any candy she would give me the money to get it. Do you think she did right?

While it was embarrassing to you to give the candy back, I think you should have known better than to accept it. Since your mother is so strict, you might have known that she would make you give it back, or give you a good scolding. Do you see, I think she did right. You are too young to start out accepting presents from the boys, even though it was only candy.

Dear Dolly—My friend and I have been thinking about taking an automobile ride with our boys, but we thought that we would write and ask your advice about it first. Dolly, we are both 16 and the boys we are going with are 17. Dolly, is there any harm in breaking a date after you make one?

KENTUCKY READERS: You are too young to go riding with the boys after night unless you have a chaperone along. If your mother doesn't object you might take a short ride with them in the afternoon, providing they know how to handle a car. It isn't customary to break dates, but there is no harm in breaking one if you have a satisfactory excuse or can convince the person you had a date with, that it was necessary to break it.

Dear Dolly—I see you print love stories in the Times and I want to know what you look for them. Dolly, I have a good love story that I would like to tell to the Times. If you will let me tell it, please answer through the paper and tell me what to do.

A POEM WRITER: Is your story original, or did you copy it out of some paper or magazine? If it is original like the one you sent me I would like to read it through it. The pencil you used in writing was so hard that I had to take a magnifying glass to make out what you were trying to say. Then too, you did not capitalize proper names, and you had several words misspelled, so to say nothing of the punctuation. Before you send your story to a paper or magazine, I would advise you to get someone to copy it on the typewriter and correct the mistakes for you. The stories we print come through a syndicate and are usually in neat or plain form, and that saves us the time and money that would be spent in setting them up on a linotype machine. However, if your story is

MISTER GOBBLER'S LESSON

"What on earth are you looking at?" asked Mister Gobbler, peevishly. Very early in the morning Mister Gobbler opened his eyes.

The sun wasn't up—but it was coming, for long fingers of light were snuggling away the night mists. "Gobbler, gobbler, gobbler!" said Mister Gobbler. "This is going to be a grand day! And I'm as hungry as a sword-swallower, whatever that is. But I saw it advertised on a fence near the road and the man looked awfully hungry. Gobbler, gobbler, gobbler! Get up, family! Don't forget, the early bird gets the worm!"

Yes, but what does the early worm get? He placed up Lanky Legs, the little turkey boy, opening one eye and then shutting it again.

But like a shot he opened it again, and then the other, and he stared and stared and stared.

"What on earth are you looking at?" asked Mister Gobbler peevishly. "One would think you'd been brought up on a desert island instead of a respectable wood-pile beside the barnyard. What are you staring at?"

"I was thinking—" said Lanky Legs, blinking his eyes as hard as he could, but he didn't finish his sentence. "Mother! Oh, mother," he called. "Wake up and look what's around father's neck!"

Miss Gobbler awakened with a start. She'd been dreaming something awful about an ax. She was glad to be wakened and find it was only a dream. "What's what is it? Why are you awake so early, Lanky? What's the matter? What were you calling me for?"

"Look at Daddy, Mother. Look and see what's around his neck!"

Miss Gobbler looked. And she couldn't keep her face straight at what she saw. She sniggered, so she did. She sniggered out loud. And that woke up all the other turkeys and after they had had one look, each one turned away his face and sniggered and sniggered.

Mister Gobbler swished himself up so and got so red in the face, he looked as though he were going to burst.

"What's wrong with all of you?" he inquired haughtily. "What is it that is so amusing about me, I'd like to know."

"It's—it's—somebody—Miss 'Tut'—a bow of red ribbon around your neck," said Miss Gobbler. "Hurry, every one of you!"

Each one took a turn tugging and pulling, but the bow was on to stay. "I'm mortified to death!" declared the poor fellow. "I won't go a place, I'll stay right at home until this horrible thing comes off."

And so he did. And all the turkeys stayed, for he was the leader, and where he went, they followed.

So Farmer Smith's buckwheat was saved, and Nancy and Mick and Mister Gobbler had many a good laugh at Mister Gobbler's plight.

But it did him good and taught him a lesson.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES — IN THE OLDEN CASTLE

Bigger and bigger grew the great air bag. And shortly Jack felt his feet leaving the ground. At first he was frightened but, as he sailed slowly and safely into the air, he rather liked the experience. So he hung on tight. In the meantime, his pet dog Flip barked loudly.

Jack had been floating but, a short time when he realized that the balloon was carrying him right back to the castle window from which the balloon had come but a short time before. Looking down he saw that his dog was racing along the ground and heading for the castle entrance.

Then the castle window was reached and, as Jack pulled his legs up under him, the balloon carried him right through and into a large beautiful room. Then the balloon settled down and Jack was standing on a polished floor. "Hurrah," said a shrill voice. (Continued.)

Haverhill Lime Company Busy

The Haverhill Limestone Company is doing a splendid business according to Smith, Graff, who has charge of the distribution.

Mr. Graff says: "Since about the first of May 250 tons of limestone has gone through our storage bin, which is certainly several times what would have been used had farmers depended on the usual way of securing it in carload lots."

Among those who have secured limestone through the bin are Frank Boynton, Wm. Brush, Chas. Brush, A. S. Goddard, Chris Schilling, Henry Groh, Ora Smith, George Selby, Thos. Lavender, S. M. Varney, Frank Oakes and S. E. Cickenberger.

Harry Groh hauling with truck for his father and Ora Smith says: "We would rather haul from Haverhill storage bin with the convenience and service rendered, than to haul from car at Wheelersburg, which is several miles shorter haul."

The following is an extract taken from the September monthly letter written by E. E. Barnes, Sales Specialist to Scioto County Soil, lenders.

Wheat sowing time approaches. Probably ninety per cent of the wheat sown in eastern Ohio should be sown this fall. A large part of the wheat land in western Ohio would also profit by such a treatment. However, only a small part of it will be sown at this time and the remainder will be in still greater need of liming before being plowed again.

Why is not more lime used by the farmers of Ohio?

Several answers may be given. One of the first that comes to mind is the cost, and yet, at present prices, which are not excessive, one could not wish for a better investment. Another answer which will suggest itself for the insufficient use of limestone is that it entails a considerable expenditure of labor. The farmer does not have time to do it and cannot hire the labor at a reasonable figure. What can be done to reduce the labor connected with the application of limestone? What can be done to distribute this labor over a longer period so that it may be done in the least busy seasons of the year?

Let us suggest an answer to you as the soils leader in your community. Think over the proposition. Talk it over with other progressive farmers in your neighborhood. Then bring it up for discussion at your Farm Bureau or Grange meetings. The suggestion is this:—A limestone storage bin. A drawing of one of these bins which is in operation at Bremen, Ohio, is enclosed. Its work is mechanically perfect. It holds 200 tons, stored at a level higher than the top of a wagon or motor truck so that it can be loaded into either a truck or a wagon. Such a bin eliminates a large part of the labor usually connected with the use of limestone. In using limestone from such a bin the farmer can haul when convenient, large or small, in any quantity necessary for his farm. He can pick up a ton or two to get a little, he can pick a time to haul when farm work is slack and the roads are in condition. He can haul directly to the field and reduce the labor of handling because he only needs to shovel it once, i. e., when he shovels it from the wagon into the spreader.

Recent data from the Ohio experiment station, show that limestone can be used effectively at any time in the rotation. With this fact in mind and with the services of a storage bin available to the farmer, there is no time available for the work. Whenever you are in town with an empty wagon bring home a load of limestone. In this way you will scarcely miss the time.

Three of these bins have been built and are in operation in Ohio: Best is the one at Bremen, one is located at Haverhill, and one at Logan. They are all similar and all give the same service. The limestone is unloaded from the car and elevated into the hopper bin by machinery.

These bins cost about $2000 each to build and equip. In all three cases where bins have been built the money has been raised by organizing a stock company of farmers.

It is of course, necessary to charge a small sum for the services rendered by the bin. The necessary charge varies with the volume of business done. When the business amounts to 500 tons per year the cost of putting it through the bin should be about $75 to $100 a ton. If the amount handled is greater the cost will be reduced somewhat. In any case the service rendered is well worth this fee.

The community interested in talking over the project can obtain help in the matter of organization and bin construction from the Ohio State University by writing the matter up with the county agent.

The soils leaders are, John Wilcox, D. M. Bennett, Albert Dold, Frank McGeorge, Frank Oakes, Al Turner, J. B. Turner, Riley Burton, Otto Zoellner, Louis Poole and James Mercer.

Oct. 4th Hessian "Fly-Free" Date
Wheat sown too soon serves as full pasturage for the Hessian fly, one of the crop's worst enemies, and enables the pest to live over and cut down the wheat crop of the following season. On the other hand, by delaying sowing until after the "fly-free" date, which is October 4th in Scioto County, farmers can break the life cycle of the Hessian fly and rid of the pest before their wheat crop of the year following.

This is because, in Ohio, the fly has two life cycles a year. Each cycle, if completed, has four stages. To cut into the succession at any point breaks up the whole business. From eggs laid on the leaves of the wheat, the maggots feed on the leaves, sucking juice that should go to make grain, and damaging the stalk so that it breaks and lodges easily. This done, the maggots go into a pupal or flaxseed form that lives on in the soil. All this has happened in Ohio since last spring. And now, during late September and early October, these flaxseeds in the soil will hatch out a second brood of adult flies that will at once lay eggs and hatch maggots. Whether these maggots will feed on new wheat and go into overwintering flaxseeds to make more trouble next year depends entirely on whether there is above ground when they hatch any wheat for them to feed on. Thus by concerted sowing of this crop a county can smash by starvation the fall brood of fly. And without a fall brood there can be no spring brood. But one or two fields of early-seeded wheat can infect a whole locality.

Scioto County has not experienced serious damage from Hessian fly for several years due in all probability to the fact that most farmers having been warned of the danger of early sowing, have postponed sowing until the "fly-free" date.

A few early sown fields would not cause serious damage in one year, but is certainly encouraging a gradual increase of fly which eventually would mean serious damages. So why not continue to starve the pest, when according to experimental data over a term of years, Oct. 4th sowing has given highest average yield.

This test has been made in Clermont County which is in practically the same latitude as Scioto County, therefore results as to proper sowing date is applicable in this county.

Prost Hills Supply Of Corn
Unseasonably cool weather, that stunted the corn has made many farmers worry about their next year's seed. A four-page bulletin on field selection as crop insurance, printed Sept. 1, at the Ohio State University, is no longer obtainable because of the large number of requests for it.

Prost-bitten ears make field selection and careful storage of seed doubly necessary this fall and in the lack of a larger supply of the bulletin, O. J. Willard, the author, gives a summary of the method of selection it describes:

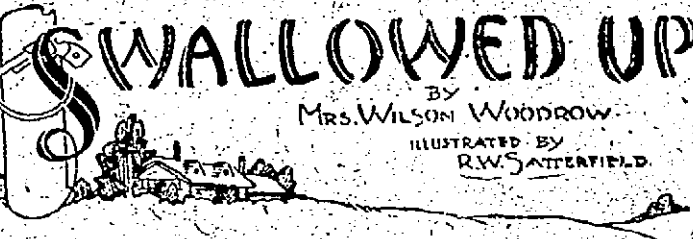

"Select seed from the standing stalk before corn is cut. Look first of all for maturity. Fall breezes do not hurt the germ of the seed, but grains fully developed are, of course, better fitted to feed the young plant next spring. It is better to pick middle-sized, well-formed ears from stalks that had average competition from other stalks than to pick larger ears that grew in hills by themselves.

"Select mature ears on green stalks, as this combination is a sign of hereditary vigor. Take no ears from stalks with dead leaves. This is a sign of a corn plant that has been attacked by a disease, and the seed should be taken in drying and storing it over winter."

There has been no frost damage to corn in Scioto County, yet every farmer who will take the time to select his seed corn from the standing stalk will probably make more money per hour than most any activity in which he is engaged at this busy time of the year. Ask your neighbor who practices field selection.

CHIEF BY BRENTANOS - G.M.E. BY THE RIDGWAY COMPANY

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

Hope Ranger, daughter of wealthy parents, disappears, after having luncheon at the Plaza with her best friend, Lucia Thorne. Hope promises her mother that she will phone to her from her father's at 3 o'clock.

Evening comes with no word from Hope. Mrs. Ranger feels alarmed and calls Hope's father from a dinner engagement. At first Mr. Ranger has no misgivings but, after it seems impossible to find trace of his daughter through her many friends, he too feels alarmed.

Ranger calls Eunice High, his attorney, who is a warm friend of the family, and asks his assistance in locating Hope. High goes to the Thorne residence to question Lucia. It seemed for a time, though, that his promised interrogation of Lucia would have to be deferred; for on reaching the house, he rang repeatedly without arousing any response, and when a sleepy servant finally appeared to answer the bell, it required all his powers of persuasion to gain admittance.

But when Mrs. Thorne came down and he had explained the nature of his errand, she readily grasped the situation, and as soon as Lucia could make a hasty toilet, sent her into the room alone.

The girl, he had to confess, seemed appalled at the news her mother had brought her and genuinely alarmed for Hope's safety.

Hope had been in fine spirits at luncheon, she said, and they had talked of a dozen things—Lucia's recent trip abroad, clothes, mutual acquaintances, both men and girls, their plans for the summer. She had teased Hope about two or three men, but Hope had merely shrugged her shoulders and laughed. "I'd be someone, Lucia," she had said, "if some one wasn't anxious to get me married! I haven't seen the man I'd marry yet, not for a farm."

When they parted, it was on the arrangement to see each other the next afternoon, and Hope had given not the slightest suggestion of anything unusual on hand. She had said something about going to the tailor's and possibly doing a bit of shopping before she went home; that she had left Hope about two or three minutes before she had crossed at Fifty-ninth street and met her friends at the Plaza, had gone with Lucia Thorne into the dining-room, and left the Thorne's at 10 minutes past two. At half after two, she had bought a veil in a millinery and dressmaking establishment on Fifty-seventh street, and had been recognized and called by name by the saleswoman. From there she had gone to a bookstore and picked up a book which she had previously ordered.

She was next seen at the soda-water counter of a fruit-and-sweetshop, where she ordered a maple sundae. It was then exactly what minutes after three, the clerk being able to fix the time so definitely from the fact that just after he had sent Miss Ranger's order before her, a disturbance had been created by a customer at the cashier's desk over a question of correct change. The attention had become so heated that the manager of the place had been summoned.

Miss Ranger, like every one else in the shop, had turned to watch the incident, and then, when it had been settled, she finished her sundae and went out.

And from that point, the investigators tried in vain to find out what had happened.

After four days of assiduous effort on the part of the Police Department, aided now by an army of private detectives, no clue had been unearthed to indicate what had become of her or whether she had gone.

Mrs. Ranger was by this time under the care of physicians, ill from grief and worry; and her husband, his face lined and haggard, his straight shoulders bowed, looked 20 years older. Even Eunice High showed the effects of the strain.

In desperation they decided to make the facts public, and every newspaper in the country was filled with descriptions of the missing girl.

CHAPTER IV
RANGER'S pipes are known all over the world. Buy a pipe—easy.

calabash, meerschaum, briar-root, or what-not, and in whatever part of the globe, and the chances are ten to one that "Ranger & Co., Makers," will be found stamped on it.

The factory and salesrooms occupy a block on Seventh avenue near Fourteenth street, and there, as a matter of habit, Ranger continued to go daily in the attempt to win some success from anxiety by absorbing himself in the accustomed routine.

So ready was he to listen to every word of suggestion offered him that it had been found necessary to post guards before his office door to protect him from the invasion of cranks and impostors.

Thus, one morning, Number One of the cordon, peremptorily halted a caller who had attempted to stroll by him, and who now, with too much assurance to be pleasing said that he wished to see "Ranger."

The off-hand manner, as well as the lack of the prefix of "Mister," annoyed the guard. Neither did he find the stranger's appearance prepossessing. Dark, heavy-lidded, his clothes shabby, his hat tilted, the man swaggered before him.

"Ranger, eh?" with heavy sarcasm. "Well, I got to tell you that the boss is busy this morning and can't see anybody—even you."

The visitor shifted his hat to an odd angle, his eyes fixed on the old pipe from his pocket and began to fill it.

"You're new here, my lad; that's plain. But, if you're in doubt take my name, either to Frank Bryan or Loring himself."

The guard, scowled, but wavered in his decision to throw the man out. He trusted his own impression more than he did this airy certainty of welcome. Yet the fellow seemed so confidently sure.

He covered his hesitation with truculent repartee.

"Well, s'posin' I do? Who shall I say it is that wants the boss—Lloyd George or Herbert Hoover?"

"Neither." The man flicked a ravelling from his sleeve. "He'll probably see me quicker if you give it to him straight. Just say, my good man, that Juarez Charlie is here."

Juarez Charlie! In the face of such a designation, Number One felt his original estimate of the man fully justified. And yet there was something in that dark, obscure glance in the searing glare on the girl's mouth that overrode his settled judgment. Uncertainly he scratched his jaw.

"I don't know but what I'll take a chance on you," he finally decided. "You ain't so much worse than a lot I've had to let get by. But listen here—" with a return of authority—"if I get in wrong, you'd better not wait. I'm coming back, and if they don't want you, I'll just naturally wipe up the street with you."

He laid his hand on RANGER'S SHOULDER.

As he came into the presence of Ranger's private secretary, Frank Bryan, the impulse that had led him to wait in the name of the rabid visitor, weakened, and he stood shuffling his feet, uncertain what to say.

"Mr. Bryan, sir, there's a party out there, that wants to see Mr. Ranger. He said to tell you or Mr. Ranger that Juarez Charlie is here."

with a groan, he dropped his head in his hands.

"It's no use, Charlie." His voice came brokenly. "No use to try and deceive myself. She is gone for good." He turned away to hide his working face, then twisted round and began to talk rapidly. Here at last was some one to whom he could lay bare all that was in his mind.

"Look at the facts, Charlie. Look at the facts. It's a month yesterday since Hope went away—was taken away, I mean—and in all that time not a word from her—not a word of her. Only this horrible silence—like a thick curtain meeting me everywhere I turn."

THE RIGHT WAY TO USE NATURAL GAS

The burners on your stove or range should not be more than one and one-fourth inches from the utensil. Otherwise, much of the heat is lost. They can easily be raised to the proper height if you find they are too low. The tip of the flame should just touch the bottom of the cooking vessel.

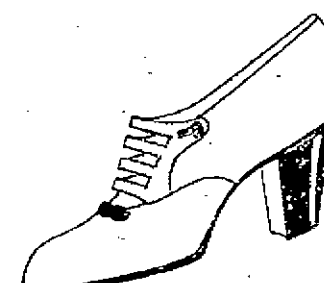

Avoid side drafts which deflect the flame. Do not permit it to "lick" up the sides of the vessel. Use grid tops or skeleton lids instead of solid tops. Have the cooking vessel ready before lighting the gas. When boiling has commenced, the same temperature can be maintained with a lower flame. Turn off the gas before the vessel is removed.

Blair Will Weigh Under 140 Mark

Nig Blair will weigh 140 pounds or less when he steps on the scales next Friday morning preparatory to his match with Phil Keith of Cincinnati, at Millbrook pavilion Friday evening.

For a while, at least, it looks as though Nig was going to get down to real training and box at the proper weight. In most of his previous bouts Blair has weighed around 150 pounds which compelled him to go out of his class and box boys that were too big for him. He showed the fans Labor Day that his best fighting weight is about 135 pounds. His bout against Bando was the best effort he has made in a long time.

Phil Keith is an old hand at the boxing game and can either box or wallop as the occasion demands. He is the kind of fighter the fans like down to action as he never stalls and likes to swap punches. He and Blair should surely make a real ship-shap affair out of their little setto. He knocked Blair down for the count of nine in the battle in Cincinnati but Nig came back strong and many thought the Panther was entitled to a draw.

Butch White and Jack Titus will give the fans some real action in the semi-final, while George Alexander and Charlie Pison will settle a dispute of long standing in the second prelim. Young Snell and Kid McAndrews, both out-of-town boxers, will open the show.

The tickets will go on sale at the Smoke House tonight at 7 o'clock. The same popular prices prevail.

Court House

Youth Fined

At a hearing in juvenile court today, Bert Farley, 17 years old, of Elliptical county, Ky., arrested for raising a time check issued to him by the N. & W. Railway company from $18.55 to $55.55 which was caused by the First National bank, was adjudged a delinquent and Judge Gilman fined him $10 and costs and required him to make restitution of the money which he obtained fraudulently.

Rebecca Blair Granted Divorce

An approved entry was filed in the office of the clerk of courts today showing that Judge Thomas has granted a decree to Rebecca Blair divorcing her from James Blair on the ground of wilful absence. The evidence in the case was submitted to the court sometime ago. Attorney T. C. Beatty for plaintiff.

Mrs. Rice Granted Divorce

Eva Rice, of Mill street, was divorced from Moses Rice, present whereabouts unknown, by Judge Thomas, following a hearing in Common Pleas court today.

The plaintiff told the court that Rice had neglected and failed to support her and their three minor children and that during the time she lived with him he frequently beat and abused her. She declared that he associated with other women and claimed that he abandoned her and children in April 1920. Plaintiff was represented by Attorneys Campbell and Higgins.

Jordan Case Dismissed

After hearing evidence in the divorce suit of Elmer Jordan, 3904 Rhodes avenue, New Boston, crane-man employed at the plant of the Wheeling Steel Corporation, against Elizabeth Jordan, 213 Ohio avenue, New Boston, Judge Thomas dismissed the petition when the testimony indicated that both parties had violated the marriage vow and were guilty of misconduct.

They were married in February 1918, and Jordan charged the wife with neglect, cruelty and infidelity, declaring that she cursed and abused him during the time he lived with her and asserted she was too chummy with other men. The defendant retaliated by "accusing" Jordan with beating her and neglecting her to live with other women.

Plaintiff was represented by Attorneys Campbell and Higgins.

Hensley Farmer Granted Divorce

On the grounds of neglect and wilful absence, Allen W. Opps, Hensley farmer, was granted a decree by Judge Thomas in Common

Pleas court today, divorcing him from Beulah Opps after he testified that the defendant neglected him, their child and home for the association of another man.

They were married in 1920 and Opps was given the custody of their minor child, a boy, now two years old. Plaintiff was represented by Attorneys Blair and Blair.

Bequeath Fund For Metallurgical Institute

COLUMBUS, Sept. 23.—One hundred thousand dollars was given for the creation of a "Battelle memorial" at the American University, Washington, D. C., under the terms of the will of Gordon Battelle, son of the late John Gordon Battelle, pioneer steel manufacturer, which was offered for probate today.

Provision is also made for the establishment in Columbus of a metallurgical institute for the "discovery" of new and advanced metallurgical processes and the better education of men for the employment in metallurgical industries.

Until the appraisers file their report, court officials said it was impossible to give an accurate estimate of the estate, but estimates placed its value at $1,500,000.

After the bequests to the American institute and the Battelle memorial here are paid the other half of the residuary estate is given to Mr. Battelle's mother, Mrs. Annie M. Battelle of Columbus.

Order New Vault For Lucasville Bank

A contract for a vault door, strong chest and safety deposit boxes was awarded to the Diebold Safe and Lock Company, Canton, yesterday, when the Board of Directors of the Lucasville bank met with M. S. Clinger, representative of the firm.

The new vault door just purchased from the Diebold people is the latest thing in such construction. It is a seven-inch door and no burglar has ever been known to open it, either by chisel, blow torch, nitroglycerine, etc. The security of this vault door is such that it commands the lowest insurance rates against burglary. The door of the strong chest, which will be placed inside of the vault, is a solid 2 1/2 inch door and is one of the number that was made for the Government and under Government specifications during war times. The Diebold Co. will furnish plans and specifications for a vault, which the Bank Co. will construct. The vault will be 8x10x8, high inside measurements and the walls will be doubly reinforced and 18 inches thick, making the reinforcement iron 3 inches on center. This vault door and vault will give the depositors of this vicinity as good security as they can get anywhere and far better than the average town of this size. The building committee consisting of Arthur S. Moulton, Frank Brant, Dr. D. C. Coleman, Charles Ault and R. Pearl Overturn, was instructed to call a meeting and make preparations to proceed with the plans for the new building.

Market tolls in Convent Garden, London's fruit and vegetable market, have not been raised since 1923.

No Clue In Mystery

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—Mrs. Charles Webb, who died Tuesday night at the West Chester-Biltmore Country Club in Rye, N. Y., was not necessarily a victim of poisoning, as far as the autopsy performed late yesterday showed. It was stated, however, that the chemical analysis might prove that certain poisons, which were found in the body, had at least, if not caused death.

Friends of the woman's husband charged that the suspicion of poisoning was the result of an old family feud which had lasted through several generations. A cousin of Mr. Webb, Colonel Howard Phayer Kingsbury, who is a physician, stated that in his opinion, death was due to natural causes. He was with Mrs. Webb at the time of her death.

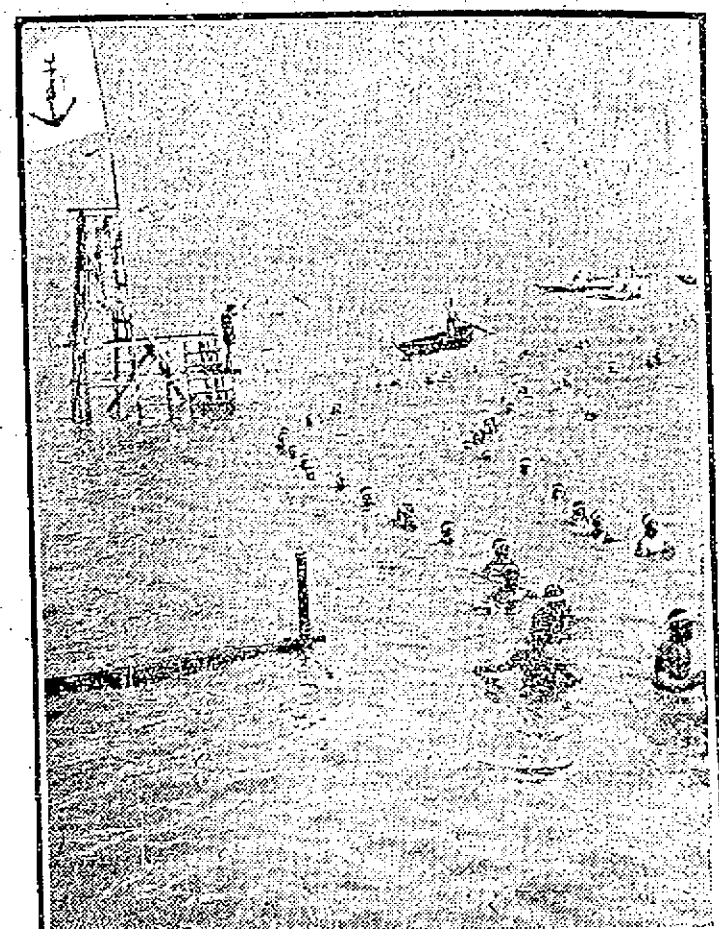

One circumstance which was regarded as odd by relatives of the dead woman was that she had suffered from an eye affection similar to that experienced by her mother, who died shortly before Mrs. Webb's marriage, which she had opposed. Relatives who demanded that an investigation be made, also declared that Mrs. Webb had carried two pills shortly before her death and that she had refused to sign a third which had been drawn.

The result of the chemical analysis probably will not be known for several days.

Greece Pays Indemnity

ROME, Sept. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—The 50,000,000, lire indemnity paid by Greece to Italy as a result of the Janina incident, was received by the director general of the Bank of Italy from the Bank of Switzerland today. This indemnity had been deposited in the Swiss Bank in Rye, N. Y., was not necessarily a victim of poisoning, as far as the autopsy performed late yesterday showed. It was stated, however, that the chemical analysis might prove that certain poisons, which were found in the body, had at least, if not caused death.

CAMERAGRAMS

HERE IS A TYPICAL SCENE OUT IN THE GREAT WEST. It shows the cultivated richness of the famous Pacific grain district of eastern Washington, south of Spokane. In the background may be seen the town of Rosalia. Hundreds of thousands of bushels of wheat come from this fertile district. And it is a safe guess to say you've eaten bread at some time in your life made from it.

"PLAY IT WITH CACTUS," says Harold Hill Wright, famous novelist, of Arizona. He is shown here armed with thick gauntlets and steel shears. The points make splendid phonograph needles, he says, and no home should be without a cactus plant in its back yard.

REMEMBER THE OLD NURSERY rhyme about "right down your throat the goes the old mill bottle"? Well, the American Nature Association says this bear is doing well on a mill diet and will grow up to be a big, fine bear some day. P. S.—But this one likes peanuts, too.

THE EQUAL RIGHTS PAGEANT, given by the National Woman's Party in the Garden of the Gods, Colorado, was a colorful affair. Many prominent women of the country participated. This shows a rehearsal. The pageant depicted the birth of equal rights for women in 1848 and all costumes were vivid reminders of the period when they represented.

CADETS ON THE MASSACHUSETTS Nautical School training ship "Nantuxet" went out into the world recently and returned laden with pets of all descriptions. Here are shown a few, snapped while the training ship was in Washington harbor, the last leg of the 13,600-mile cruise. Parrots, monkeys and birds featured the "demonstration." The boys are well satisfied with their collection.

U. S. ARMY OFFICERS, taking special training courses in cavalry schools at Fort Riley, Kans., turn out to be among the best riders in the world. Many of the horses used in the school are prize winners in European shows as well as American ones. All-night rides, scaling steep embankments, jumping and racing, are all on the program of these darling young officers.

RENEE ADOREE, native of France, has made a big hit in the movies of America. She has just been placed under a five-year contract. Born in Lille, France, raised and educated abroad, she came over here several years ago to be the featured dancer in Broadway musical shows.

SHE'S DAVE BANCROFT of her sex. Meaning Edith Haughton of Philadelphia, 18. She knows baseball from start to finish, can smash out hard drives and stop hot ones. Philadelphia school boys have to "go some" to beat her. But unless they start a big league for women, it looks as though she will always stay in the "minors."

VANCEBURG TEAM AND HAYS MOTOR PLAY IN MILLBROOK TOMORROW

There promises to be some lively doings out at the Millbrook arena Sunday afternoon when the Vanceburg team and their allies, players who saw service in the Blue Grass league the past season, will romp with the Hays Motor Nine.

The Kentuckians are coming back in the hope of getting revenge for the drubbing handed them a week ago by Bill Hays' motor boys who are "all set" and chuck full of confidence of their ability to stand the invaders on their heads again.

The visitors will probably have a revised lineup from the one which they presented a week ago and according to advice from the Lewis county capital they have secured some new talent at great expense in a mighty effort to achieve a victory over the local contingent on this occasion.

GRIMES A SLUGGER
CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Grimes' batting enabled Chicago to make it two straight from Pittsburgh Friday, by winning 2 to 1. Grimes' triple followed by Miller's double tied the score after the visitors had registered a run. Grimes gave the Cubs the game by driving out a home run. The score:

DETROIT WINS
DETROIT, Sept. 29.—The Tigers beat the Cleveland Indians Friday, 17 to 3 and moved a notch nearer second place. After the Detroit team had scored seven runs in the first inning, Manager Speaker started giving his recruit players an opportunity to display their ability and as a result five recruit slingers made their appearance in the lineup. Twenty-eight players participated in the game, 18 for Cleveland and 10 for Detroit.

Football Season Is Ushered In When Oak Hill Hi Beats New Boston 14-12
Two points scored by "Sure-foot" Brisker, half back on the Oak Hill team, when he dropped-kicked two goals after touchdowns, won a 14 to 12 contest for Oak Hill over New Boston at the Millbrook gridiron Friday afternoon, the game marking the opening of the 1923 season for New Boston.

New Boston put up a game fight and scored two touchdowns. The same as the visitors, although one was a fumble. Norris, who does the kicking for New Boston, failed in both of his attempts to put the ball over the bar and between the uprights, while Brisker sent his drop-kicks through the center, so there would be no question as to whether they were good.

The Oak Hill outfit was bigger than Glenwood hi, which includes several players from the grades, but despite this fact New Boston's line held many times when the big, heavy backs from Oak Hill would try to plough through it. Oak Hill worked sent passes successfully. New Boston, with a small backfield and a heavy line opposing was expected to play with more passes, but these plays were missing. The team relied on line plays when more ground could have been gained probably by runs and passes. New Boston also lost considerable time by changing signals.

The kicking of Brisker for Oak Hill featured the game. His punts always carried considerable distance and his line held to give him time to kick. Norris, center for Glenwood, is doing the kicking and several times had to kick with opposition players rushing in on him.

A good sized crowd of students from Glenwood with snappy yells and cheers occupied the sidelines. Oak Hill also sent down a couple of machine loads of students who did not pass up an opportunity to cheer when their color bearers made plays for big gains.

In the first quarter Fitch of Glenwood intercepted an Oak Hill pass made on the third down in New Boston territory. New Boston lost the ball on a fumble on their 37-yard line. Oak Hill recovered. When forced to punt Brisker was rushed, dropping the ball and kicked it on the bounce. Later in the first quarter Fitch again intercepted a pass.

The second period opened with New Boston in possession of the ball on Oak Hill's 37 yard line. Line backs and a 15 yard dash through the line by Staten put the ball on Oak Hill's 10 yard line. New Boston was penalized 5 yards but made the 5 yard on a line back. Staten then carried the ball to the four yard line but a wide end run lost 12 yards and Oak Hill got the ball on downs.

Oak Hill made 30 yards on an end around end play and then followed this with a 12 yard pass and a 10 yard pass. New Boston held Oak Hill for downs on their 30 yard line but soon lost the pigskin on a fumble by Fitch. Oak Hill lost the ball on a pass on the 10 yard line, when the half ended.

Second Half
Oak Hill kicked off the second half, the ball rolling behind the goal. Staten scooped it up and carried it to the 5 yard line from where Norris punted to the 45 yard line. Oak Hill executed a pass play and the ball hit the 1 yard line. On the second line smash Hobbie went over for six points and Brisker easily kicked goal.

New Boston made a first down on bucks after receiving the kick off but lost the ball on downs on the second attempt to make 10 yards. Oak Hill could not gain and punted and to get the ball back from across territory New Boston punted. Oak Hill punted back the ball going behind the New Boston goal. Staten carried it out to the 20 yard line. Norris punted outside on the 35 yard line. Oak Hill gained on pretty pass from Brisker to Jenkins, the pass sailing 15 yards while Jenkins made a move on a run this time. The line after the goal for another touchdown. Brisker kicked goal making it 14 to 0.

Oak Hill elected to receive and Norris looted the ball so hard it rolled behind Oak Hill's goal. Oak Hill let it roll and did not touch it, thinking it would be in play on the 20 yard line. Captain Brisker of Glenwood hit the ball in covering the ball for touchdown. Norris failed to kick from placement.

Norris again kicked it to the goal line but this time Oak Hill carried it out 27 yards, ending the third quarter.

Last Quarter
Lewis of Glenwood intercepted an Oak Hill pass on the visitor's 35 yard line. Four of the players from New Boston worked hard until the pigskin was carried over for another six points. Line smashes gave Glenwood first down, Harris hit the line for eight yards and a long end run added about 12 more. It was first down and 15 yards to the goal. A buck cut five yards off the distance and a second plunge cut the distance 3 yards. It was then first down and 9 yards to the goal. A line back was good for three yards and then Stratton took it over on a sneak.

Norris failed to drop-kick.

New Boston made a vain attempt to put over another touchdown but when they lost the ball on a fumble on a fake pass formation their hopes went glimmering.

New Boston has a light team but the players have new and are willing and time had to be taken out a number of times while players recovered on the field instead of going to the sidelines. New Boston also made a number of splendid tackles while Oak Hill tackled high.

Brisker who made a hit with his kicking has not had goal posts at home to practice over but he made his boot good just the same.

NOT EVEN GOOD HIENSIGHT

A delegation of northwestern wheat growers and bankers, chaperoned by their congressmen, called upon President Coolidge to impress upon him the necessity of the fixing by government a price on wheat. If this were not done the country was bound for the demotion of wheat and nothing could stop it.

Happily there is more humor than gravity in their appeal. Once the government had a price of $2.26 upon wheat. In the Harding campaign of 1920 this government price was made a direct issue. These same growers, bankers and congressmen were all then maintaining that it was ruining the agricultural industry. If it were taken off wheat would go to $3.00. Harding promised it would be taken off. All of the petitions voted for him. His was one campaign promise kept. The price fixed was abrogated. Wheat promptly dropped to a dollar a bushel and has continued to linger thereabouts ever since.

As a matter of fact there was never any justification for the government fixing the price of wheat, except as a war measure. It was fixed for that reason and none other. Its abrogation was altogether proper. It will not be restored.

One of the troubles now is that there has been too much interference of government in business. Too many interests have appealed to it, not only for protection, but for aid more or less direct. It is an evil policy that should be abandoned altogether, not stretched to indefinite length and sure ruin.

AND THEY DON'T KNOW IT

A. B. GOURENG, economist of the federal bureau, reports to it that he has been in Ohio and everywhere—mark you that everywhere—he found the farmers riding on the top of prosperity.

Buckeye grangers certainly ought to feel grateful to Mr. Goreng for that. They would never have suspected their senseless good fortune had he not come among them and then returned to Washington to harangue it to the welcoming world.

The ebullient harbinger of good cheer admits he found many abandoned farms in Ohio abandoned no doubt because they were too profitable, farm labor was scarce, and he found general complaint of the exorbitant pay it demanded, or inability to get it at all. Wherefore all public improvements would be abandoned. Milk was commanding high prices, but decreased cost of prepared food and labor were taking the profit out of it. Potatoes were cheaper than dirt, there was a big loss on wheat, the frequent rains damaging the tobacco, cattle are going for a song and hogs were not worth much.

But outside of this everything was salubrious, as Economist Goreng sees it and the goose hangs high.

And these "bulletins" add to the highest of government that the Ohio farmers have to pay in token of the abundance, heaped up and running over, that is their portion.

Aye, thanks, a million thanks, Mr. Goreng for telling us ignorant agriculturists how well off we are.

New York Day-By-Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Sports and near sports of Longacre Square are overjoyed at news that the U. S. treasury is to stop issuing two dollar bills. The two dollar bill throws a black fear into their hearts.

While they will not accept this denomination, the mere offering of it by a cashier fills them with foreboding. For many years the two dollar bill has been the universal jinx sign. When Mike the Greek dropped $100,000 in a ten minute dice game last summer he knew the reason.

As he stepped from a taxi to the hotel where the game was staged he unknowingly accepted a two dollar bill in change from the driver. So strong is the superstition that many all night drug stores and cafes in the Times Square section have signs over the cashier's cage reading:

"We do not tender two dollar bills in change!"

No one seems to know where the superstition originated. But the sporting world of Broadway can point to numerous incidents where the two dollar bill has presaged tragedy.

Caesar Young, the slain bookmaker in the Nan Patterson case, had a roll of two dollar bills when he was found murdered. A well known actor who dropped dead near the Chrysler was trying to change a two dollar bill when the seizure claimed him.

One of two policemen who were slain by a taxi bandit recently found a two dollar bill the morning of the tragedy. Actors are equally stubborn in refusing this form of currency. It is told of one producer who wanted to rid his cast of a comedian and paid him in two spots. The comedian quit at once.

On Lexington avenue a blind man has a bicycle bell attached to his walking stick and when he comes to a crossing rings it. Kindly pedestrians immediately come to his aid, and he is able to get through the traffic. Also at a news stand at 51st and Lexington avenue there is a sign reading, "A blind man keeps this stand and this stand keeps the blind man."

An average of 1,000 persons miss their trains daily at the New York terminals. Most of them are commuters. At Grand Central the clocks over the inclines leading to the lower levels are three minutes fast. This is done to speed up the lagging. Do not, masters say more men miss their trains than women. They also say that successful businessmen are the most punctual. They arrive 10 or fifteen minutes before their train departs and if they have any business to transact, attend to appointments on the depot platforms.

The most persistent train misser is a moving picture comedian who has started for California six times in the past two years and never failed to miss his train upon each occasion. The last time he departed, just for variety's sake, he got on the wrong train. He blames it on "farewell parties" that are given to him by his friends.

London audiences have been so frequent in giving American actors what they call "the bird"—that is a looking for the stars that several well known stars have refused to appear in London productions. The American player, if he happens to call money in American terms, instead of pounds, shillings and pence, is sure to be razzed. Theatrical sportsmanship in America is illustrated by the fact that ten of the Kialto are either starring or featuring British players. They always get a hand when they appear.
